All In Readiness For Holy Ghost Benefit Show Saturday

American Fliers Owe Lives To French Heroes Led By Priest

Final plans for what will be the greatest benefit show ever held in Massachusetts were announced today by Albert F. Reilly, president of the Evans Lighter Company, sponsor and benefactor of the Holy Ghost College Fund. Headlined by Christopher Lynch, the world's greatest Irish Tenor and supported by the famous Mills Brothers, the cast will include the entire Evans showcase with Gloria Carroll and Carl Moore in their weekly broadcast direct from the stage of the Boston Garden. Other star performers will include "Sid" Tepper and "Roy" Brodsky, America's most famous song writing team, singing many of the songs which they have written. These include "Red Roses for a Blue Lady", "Say Something Sweet To Your Sweetheart", "Your Heartless" and many others.

Other star entertainers will include "The Three Extremes", a comedy pantomime team which has appeared on stage and television, "The Adairs", an outstanding comedy dance team, and, as an added extra attraction, Norman Roberts, the country's newest singing sensation, who will be making his first Boston personal appearance.

All proceeds from this great show which will be held at the Boston Garden on Saturday evening, September 10, will go toward the rebuilding of the Holy Ghost College of Beauvais, France. This college, which was totally destroyed during the war, was the headquarters of the first underground movement composed of members of the student body and faculty. Together they saved the lives of over 750 American airmen who were shot down over the Beauvais-Dieppe area. Many of these airmen who were saved will be present at the garden on Saturday evening.

An added impetus to this drive came as a result of Archbishop Richard J. Cushing's whole-hearted support. In a statement released

ARLINGTON PUPILS THROG SCHOOLS ON OPENING DAY

With shining faces and rosy apples, for teacher, hundreds of Arlington youngsters trekked the last long slow miles back to their schools on Wednesday morning.

Starting at an early hour, mothers at home were busy packing lunchboxes, tying shoe laces and deciding momentous queries as to who wears what in preparation for the annual back to school trek. Scheduled to flock back to classrooms on Wednesday morning (no raincoats or rubbers were necessary, because of the forecaster's promise of "fair and cool" weather.)

Harrassed mothers here and there were concerned with keeping Junior Misses' braids from tangling and Junior's cowlick from standing on end.

It is mother's responsibility, too.

"Let Heroes Speak"

Perhaps you have heard the thrilling story of the little French college of the Holy Ghost, in the tiny village of Beauvais, France?

Perhaps you have read of the band of consecrated priests and students there, who, when bombed out by the Germans, carried on their noble work of rescue underground, in spite of the loss of priests and students and the razing of their beloved college.

For there are hundreds of American fliers living today who owe their lives to the selfless devotion and heroism of this band of patriots, who served and suffered unseen and unrewarded in the very heart of the French underground.

They came to our assistance in our desperate hour of need. Let us now repay in some slight measure, our great debt of gratitude, by helping them rebuild the bombed structure of their college, into a great and glorious university dedicated to the service of God and humanity.

Arlington Women Urged To Enroll As Gray Ladies

Are there women in Arlington who will help a fellow write a letter to his best girl, or perhaps do a little shopping for him? He might even need a good book from the hospital library, or need to have his flowers arranged artistically before his visitors arrive.

These are duties waiting to be carried out by volunteer Red Cross Gray Ladies, who are urgently needed if Red Cross is to meet the constant demands of local civilian federal and military hospitals.

With vacations over and schools opening, mothers are sure to have a few leisure hours during the week, hours which they are now wondering what they should do with. There is deep personal satisfaction in helping those who are greatly in need of help and Red Cross offers women the opportunity of sharing their friendly and helpful service in a great and humanitarian work.

"Any Arlington woman, with four free hours a day, one day a week can serve as a Red Cross Gray Lady," said Mrs. Kenneth Bolles, chairman of this Service. "She will provide many pleasant moments to brighten the day for those ill and convalescing."

A twelve hour course, meeting three times a week for two weeks, will begin early in September. "Call the Boston Chapter of Red Cross at KENmore 6-6226 as soon as possible and register as a volunteer Gray Lady. You are urgently needed," said Mrs. Bolles.

HOLY GHOST . . .

by the Archbishop, he declared, "The people of Massachusetts should do all in their power to assure the success of the Holy Ghost College Drive. I urge everyone to get behind it."

Tickets to this benefit show are now on sale at the Boston Garden, Filene's and Jordon Marsh.

The story of the Holy Ghost College set in the little village of Beauvais, France, is a thrilling one to lovers of freedom everywhere!

Now the French College wants to rise from its ruins, so that France and Christendom may continue to fight against enslavement.

This, in one sentence, brings to life the story of Holy Ghost College of Beauvais, France. A story written with blood of heroic French students who perished so that American troops might live. A story blazed in the hearts of hundreds of allied airmen who owe their lives to these French heroes and the Irish priest who led them.

This is the story of the Holy Ghost College and of Beauvais, the little town 40 miles north of Paris and of Rev. Brendan O'Connell, of Kerry, Ireland who has dedicated his life to God and the people of France.

When the Nazis over-ran France its first targets were the airmen and the coastal towns along the English channel.

One of the more important airmen was the one located at Beauvais, on the Dieppe border. One day, German bombers paid a call on Beauvais. Their calling cards consisted of high explosives which were dropped indiscriminately all over town. The Holy Ghost College, which had just commemorated the fiftieth year of its foundation was reduced to a heap of smoking ruins. Buried beneath the ruins was Rev. Bouvoille, the president of Holy Ghost, and 63 pupils and teachers. The Germans later took the town and the remaining priests and students formed a resistance network and went underground. This resistance group was a constant thorn in the side of the Germans. Their work of sabotage spread throughout France like wildfire and encouraged similar groups.

Many members of this group were discovered by the Nazis and put to death. Among them was Fr. Gerald, a priest who was their leader. He was discovered in the act of rescuing an allied aviator and died a martyr's death rather than implicate his comrades.

The next leader of the group was Rev. Brendan O'Connell, the Irish priest who had studied at Holy Ghost College before the war, and asked to be returned there so that he might devote his life to the little college which he had grown so fond of.

Fr. O'Connell immediately took over where Fr. Gerald left off. Each night when allied bombers crossed the channel on their way to German targets, the priest and his group of students would also be out watching the skies for any sign of planes which may have been hit by German anti-aircraft units or fighter interception.

Whenever a plane was shot down Fr. O'Connell and his boys would try to reach it before the Germans did, and if successful, they would rescue those who were still alive and bring them to their hide-out. There they would be nursed back to health and smuggled across the English channel to rejoin their units. Over 500 airmen were saved in this manner by these heroes, over half of them were discovered by the Gestapo and put to death.

Today, in the sixtieth year of its existence, the Holy Ghost College is fighting for its resurrection. It has sent to Boston its great hero, Rev. Brendan O'Connell, to ask the people of America for help in rebuilding his beloved college.

Rev. O'Connell arrived in Boston last week to direct the drive for funds which will give to the giant people of France another college in which to train their youth and prepare them for the eventful battle against the hate and intolerance responsible for the past war.

HOME FROM VACATION

Arlington Center's barber, Palmer Guarante, has returned from an enjoyable vacation spent at the Maples at Union, New Hampshire.

tions, Fr. O'Connell said "The people of Massachusetts can be proud of the part which they have played in advancement of education and culture. I hope that in their generosity they will open their hearts to the gallant people of France who have suffered so much in the past 10 years. By your donation, you will make possible the resurrection of the Holy Ghost College, and give to the people of Beauvais their temple of learning which they had enjoyed for fifty years prior to its destruction."

Fr. O'Connell has been instructed by Bishop Raeder to advise that all those who help in this difficult and worthy task will have their names written in the "Golden Book of the School". They will receive from time to time a short bulletin which will keep them informed of the progress of the rebuilding. In addition to this, a mass will be said every month for all benefactors.

Donations may be sent as follows: Holy Ghost College Fund, c/o State Street Trust Co., State Street, Boston, Massachusetts.

Popular Local Nurse To Wed Former Arlington Man

One of the most delightful of the early fall weddings will take place on Friday evening, September 9th, at eight o'clock at the Emmanuel Baptist Church in Cambridge, when Miss Marion F. Staples, 23 Newman Way, Arlington, will become the bride of Mr. Harold W. Johnson, of 30 Beechcroft street, Brighton. The officiating clergyman will be the Rev. Archer Turner, pastor of the church. Miss Staples is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Walter L. Staples, of Sharon.

The bride has chosen a light blue wool suit with grey accessories and a bridal bouquet of white roses will complete her costume. The matron of honor, Mrs. Walter E. MacLure of Laurel street, Arlington, will be gowned in light blue suit, with navy accessories and matching corsage. The best man will be Mr. Walter E. MacLure.

A wedding reception for family and a small group of friends will follow the ceremony at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge.

The bride is a graduate of the Arlington High school and is now associated with the Arlington Symmes hospital as a graduate nurse. Mr. Johnson is in the printing business in Boston.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to New York, Cleveland and New Hampshire, the couple will be at home to their many friends at 23 Newman Way, Arlington.

GATE TENDER HERE AVERTS TRAIN WRECK

A Boston bound passenger train on the Lexington branch of the Boston and Maine railroad, was saved from being wrecked, due to a wash-out, by James P. Doland, 74 year old veteran crossing tender at the Massachusetts avenue grade crossing, Arlington centre.

During the height of Thursday's storm, he walked out of his way in the pouring rain down the tracks below the Swan place crossing, which he daily traverses on his way to work from his home at 12 Swan Place, Arlington, looking for a possible washout, where several had occurred in the past and came across a section where the road bed had been washed out for a distance of twenty feet.

With the first train from Bedford to Boston due any minute, Doland hurried to the Arlington station about 200 hundred yards away, and flagged down the approaching train. He took the engineer and conductor to the wash-out and they were convinced that it would mean derailment to attempt passage. The train was ordered back to Bedford after discharging its 25 passengers, who continued to Boston via trolley car and bus. The washout was later filled in.

Chief Bullock Issues Appeal For Children's Hospital

Calling attention to the coin boxes which have been distributed in business establishments and stores in Arlington, modeled in miniature after the Children's Medical Center, Chief Archie F. Bullock, local chairman of the Mass. Mayors', Selectmens' and Police Chiefs' Coin Box campaign to aid in the development of the Children's Medical Center, today renewed his appeal for donations.

Stating that "America sets the pattern for the civilized world in providing the best medical care for a nation that enjoys the highest living standards," Chief Bullock, continued.

"Similarly, the nations of the earth, like the people of this country, look to the Children's Hospital of Boston for specialized care for children when all else fails.

"This renowned institution, literally, is the 'emergency ward' for children everywhere. This universally acclaimed hospital for 80 years has filled the role of the ever ready guardian of the health and happiness of all children, regardless of race, creed or color. It's only card of admission is a sick child."

"The appeal for funds to speed the day when diseases among children may be conquered is being carried on in this community, where coin boxes solicit donations, no matter how modest."

"The quarters, dimes or small change that you deposit in these coin boxes will really count for something in the not too distant future. Your generosity and unselfishness may prove the means for giving hope, even life, to a child who might otherwise be denied it and who knows, it could be your own."

"Whenever you see a coin box, drop in some change, what may seem like small change to you, may be the means of making a big change, in the life of some poor crippled child."

SERVICES FOR MRS. EMILY SQUIRES

Funeral services for Mrs. Emily Squires, 72, of 22 Avon place, former state president of the American Legion Auxiliary were held on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, at the Calvary Methodist church. Mrs. Squires passed away on Saturday in New York.

A past New England president of the World War Mothers, she was also a past president of the Women's Auxiliary Post 27, American Legion, Cambridge; a member of the Cambridge Chapter of the Eastern Star; and Rebekah Lodge in Cambridge.

Mrs. Squires leaves four sons, and three daughters. They are Francis A. 2nd, of Woburn, Chester H. and William H., of Arlington, and Samuel L. Squires, of Nantasket.

The three daughters are Mrs. Lalah F. Corkum, of Brighton, Mrs. Marion O. Larssen, of Lexington and Mrs. Alice M. Anderson, of Arlington; also six brothers and four sisters.

Mrs. F. D. R. Will Publicize Winchester Toastmistresses

The Winchester Toastmistress Club with which a great many wellknown Arlington women are affiliated, will acquire considerable national fame shortly, when Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt mentions the club in her column and pays tribute to the program as outlined by the members of the club.

It seems that a member of the club heard Mrs. Roosevelt relate how difficult it was to learn to make speeches. Mrs. Helen Pietz, president of the Winchester Toastmistress club, thereupon wrote to Mrs. Roosevelt, telling her how the club members were trained to speak for community drives and other worthy causes.

Mrs. Roosevelt in her reply, from Hyde Park, assured the club members as follows: "I think the idea of a Toastmistress Club is a very good one. It makes an enormous difference to women if they have some practical experience and are not afraid to get on their feet. They can be very useful in the community, and now, when women carry such great responsibility for the future, being able to express yourselves in public is more important than ever. It may help if I mention your club in my column, as I gather you want to introduce it in other communities. With all good wishes, I am" (Signed) Eleanor Roosevelt.

"CARE" TURKEY PACKAGES FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS ABROAD

A special CARE Holiday Package, containing a whole turkey and all the trimmings for a festive Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner abroad, has been announced by Paul Comly French, executive director of the non-profit organization.

The first of 100,000 such packages goes on the assembly line this morning, in CARE's packing plant in Philadelphia, French said, to insure shipments abroad in due time for holiday delivery.

The turkeys in the package are the famous Beltsville Whites, bred through Department of Agriculture experiments for minimum bones and maximum meat. They are steam roasted in their own juices and canned under pressure, for CARE's use in its holiday packages, which also include such foods as butter, bacon, chocolates, sugar, coffee, tea, hard candy, and other items which have been scarce for years on European holiday tables.

CARE has contracted for one hundred thousand Beltsville birds, French said, to be delivered between now and September to the CARE packing plant in Philadelphia. As the full packages are assembled, they will be shipped, in quantities of approximately five to ten thousand, to the European countries to receive them. Following the overwhelming response to CARE's special package last fall it has been decided to stockpile holiday packages as is done with CARE's regular package. All packages will be in their European warehouses by October 30th, so that deliveries may be guaranteed for the holidays.

"CARE" will begin accepting orders for the holiday package immediately," French said. "We will accept exactly one hundred thousand orders, and no more, to avoid disappointment by American donors and their friends abroad. If marked for Thanksgiving time delivery orders will be delivered during November, if not specially marked for early delivery orders will be delivered during the latter part of November and December. Americans whose orders cannot be delivered will have their money refunded promptly."

The holiday package, which CARE will deliver abroad at a complete cost of $13.50, including guaranteed delivery with a receipt returned to the American donor, will have the following contents:

- 1 ea Canned Whole Turkey
- 1 lb Bacon
- 1 lb Plum Pudding
- 1 lb Raisins
- 1 lb Powdered Sugar
- 1 lb Huyler's Chocolates
- 8 oz Butter
- 1 lb Orange Marmalade
- 1 lb Rice
- 1 ea Can Opener
- 1 lb Coffee or tea for Britain

The parcel can be ordered, beginning today, from CARE, 175 Tremont street, Boston. Telephone LI 2-8394.
